COURSE DESCRIPTION:

The University Of North Carolina Department Of Urology is proud to host the 16th Annual Floyd A. Fried Advances in Urology Symposium. This year's symposium will highlight several new developments in the field of urology. Topics to be covered include management of the opioid crisis within the urologic community. We will cover the use of active surveillance for intermediate risk prostate cancer, management of high-risk prostate cancer and the appropriate clinical application of prostate biomarkers. Proper timing and selection criteria for advanced renal cancer will be discussed. Office evaluation for the azoospermic, infertile male will be reviewed. The attendees will be briefed on prostate artery embolization and how it compares to current gold standards for the treatment of BPH. A discussion on female urethral reconstruction is intended to inform conference attendees of the options available for urethral reconstruction in women. AUA Updates on Renal Mass and Renal Cancer as well as timing for nephrectomy. We will review transgendered medicine for the urologist and review current healthcare policy in NC regarding transgendered issues.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

This course is intended for Urologic Providers.

DISCLOSURE:

This activity has been planned and implemented under the sole supervision of the course director, Kristy M. Borawski, MD, in association with the UNC Office of Continuing Professional Development (UNC CPD). THE 16TH ANNUAL

FLOYD A. FRIED ADVANCES IN UROLOGY

Friday, June 22, 2018 ~ Saturday June 23, 2018

Paul J. Rizzo Conference Center, 150 DuBose House Lane, Chapel Hill, NC 27517

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

The information presented at this live activity should improve participants' ability to:

- Incorporate in practice the latest treatment options and AUA guidelines for prostate cancer, renal mass and renal cancer.
- Utilize specific urology techniques, including: prostate artery embolization for treatment of BPH; the in-office workup of the azoospermic male; the application of nephrectomy in advanced kidney cancer; female urethral reconstruction; the appropriate application of prostate biomarkers; and management options when urodynamic results do not match patients' symptoms.
- Be mindful of biopsychosocial issues in the practice of urology, including: current law regarding opioid prescribing and the physicians' role in opioid stewardship; current health topics being discussed by the legislature and their potential impact on urologists; advancing the academic mission of the department within the confines of systems-based healthcare; and challenges surrounding the care of transgender patients.

ACCREDITATION

The School of Medicine of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT

The School of Medicine of The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill designates this live activity for a maximum of 8.50 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Other health professionals will receive a certificate of attendance from an AMA PRA Category 1™ activity. These certificates are accepted by the NC Boards for physician assistants, nurse practitioners, nurses, pharmacists, and respiratory therapists. Other health care providers may also be able to use these certificates, depending on their particular license requirements (License requirements are subject to change. Participants should check with their licensing boards for specific questions. UNC and its partners are not responsible for changes in license requirements.).
