Setting goals for communicative life participation in aphasia

Katarina L. Haley, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Jessica Richardson, University of New Mexico; Adam Jacks, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill; Michael de Riesthal, Vanderbilt University

Presented at the Annual Convention of the American Speech Language Hearing Association, Denver, CO, November 12, 2015

The 4-pronged model introduced in the presentation:

Collaborative planning involves the perspectives of both the PWA and the SLP. It is based on a dialogue that extends throughout intervention. Example of structure to facilitate this dialogue in an outpatient rehabilitation setting:
We welcome your involvement:

For more resources, we invite you to visit the collaborative aphasia goal project: www.med.unc.edu/ahs/sphs/card. We continue to update this website, so please check back. You may also reach us through email at: card@unc.edu

References

