BIOSKETCH

Dr. Harris is a Professor of Medicine. He is a native to North Carolina, having been born in Winston-Salem and raised in Eden and Thomasville. His father was also a Doctor in this state. He is especially proud of his two children, Sarah and Ben. Dr. Harris graduated from Johns Hopkins School of Medicine in 1970, and did further training in Baltimore and Cleveland. He practiced in western North Carolina for eight years before joining the UNC School of Medicine staff in 1987. He is board certified in both Internal Medicine and Preventive Medicine. He likes to talk with his patients to get to know them, and help them make decisions for themselves. He is most interested in preventive medicine, heart disease, cancer (especially breast and colon), stroke, and infection, as well as diabetes and high blood pressure. Although being a physician takes up most of his time, he enjoys being outdoors, hiking, camping and playing tennis.
