Article 11 Non-Medical and Visiting Students

Section 11.01 Non-medical Student Participation in Medical School Courses

(1) Non-medical students are not permitted to participate in any portion of a course that constitutes part of the medical school curriculum unless expressly approved by the School of Medicine Registrar in consultation with the Course Director.

Section 11.02 Visiting Medical Students

(1) Visiting Medical Students

(a) Definitions

i. Domestic visiting medical students are medical students enrolled in an LCME accredited medical school or an American Osteopathic Association accredited osteopathic school.

ii. International medical students are medical students that are not enrolled in an LCME accredited medical school or an American Osteopathic Association accredited osteopathic school.

(b) The UNC School of Medicine only accepts visiting domestic or international medical students. Any other person must contact their department of interest to inquire about opportunities for study.

(c) All visiting medical students must contact the Office of Student Affairs to inquire whether their department of interest has additional requirements beyond those discussed in this Article.

(d) All visiting medical students must be in their last year of medical school, prior to internship, when they begin their elective.

(e) All visiting medical students are limited to eight weeks of clinical rotations.

(2) Requirements for Visiting Medical Students

All visiting medical students must comply with UNC School of Medicine visiting student requirements including, but not limited to:

(a) Complete the appropriate visiting student application and submit it to the Office of Student Affairs.

(b) Show proof of the required immunizations and disease testing

(c) Comply with UNC School of Medicine health insurance requirements

(d) Comply with the OSHA regulations
(e) Comply with all patient confidentiality regulations

Approved by CMPC February 10, 2005
Approved by Dean Golden March 8, 2005

Notes and Procedures

11.02(1)(a) For more information on the LCME and the AOA please visit www.lcme.org and www.osteopathic.org.