Upcoming TIBBS-sponsored events

Monday and Tuesday 10/11-10/12

1-1 Public Speaking Sessions with Scott Morgan

Practice your presentation skills 1-1 with Scott Morgan from Premiere Public Speaking. Each 1-1 session will be 30 minutes long. Sessions will take place between 12 and 2:30pm on Monday Oct 11th or between 11 and 3pm on Tuesday Oct 12th. Scott Morgan is co author of Speaking About Science: A Manual for Creating Clear Presentations and partner at the Washington, DC consulting firm Premiere Public Speaking. He advises scientists in academia and government on how to improve the delivery and content of their scientific presentations.

Wednesday 10/20 9:00am to 12:00pm

Science Writing Workshop with Pam Hurley

Pam has taught scientific and technical writing in both academic and industrial settings since 1988. She teaches scientific writing at Duke University, technical writing at The University of North Carolina at Wilmington, and offers an online "writing lab" for students at The George Washington University.

This workshop is limited to 25 people and will cover these and other topics:

Writing abstracts, summaries, and table of contents; Using language appropriately (active/passive voice; expletives/pronouns); Writing to meet audience needs and use; Using the IMRAD method (introduction, methods, results and discussion) correctly

Click here for more info or to register for Pam's writing workshop

Wednesday 10/20 12:30 to 5:00

1-1 Science Writing Sessions with Pam Hurley

Discuss your individual writing challenges with Pam Hurley in a 20 minute 1-1 session. You will need to email Pam a writing sample a week before her arrival. Pam can also provide you with follow up feedback via email.

Wednesday 10/27 9:00 to 5:00

1-1 Career and life coaching sessions with Denise Saunders

Confused about career choices? Stressed out by grad school? Are issues in your personal life affecting your research, or vice versa? Licensed psychologist and career counselor Denise Saunders has helped countless life science grad students deal with these and countless other issues. Sessions are free of charge and confidential.

Pioneering Postdoc Programs

Your postdoctoral training period is the ideal time to hone your skills and get needed experience that will make you the perfect candidate for the career of your choice.

There are many unique postdoc programs that train fellows in a variety of in-demand skills and these training opportunities are often shorter and more structured than the traditional academic postdoc. They teach a specific skill set and can be a fast track to a “real job” afterwards.

Each month in the TIBBS Times we'll highlight a different fellowship opportunity. This month's spotlight is on Genentech's prestigious industry postdoc program.

NHGRI Genetics and Public Policy Fellowship

Co-sponsored by The American Society of Human Genetics, The National Human Genome Research Institute, and the National Institutes of Health, this unique public policy fellowship to give genetics professionals an opportunity to contribute the policy-making process.

The fellowship provides three separate types of experiences:

- time spent in the NIH as a part of the Executive branch;
- a staff position on Capitol Hill serving elected officials and the Legislative branch;
- and then experience working with ASHG in the non-profit science advocacy sector.

This variety of assignments provides experience for the fellow from multiple critical viewpoints and challenging perspectives of the scientific policy-making process.

Length of Fellowship: 16 months

Start Date: August to early September (negotiable)

Compensation Package: annual $60k stipend plus benefits

October 2010 Seminars (page 1 of 5)

October 1st

Cyclical Logic: Probing CDK Network Function with Chemical Genetics

Presented by Robert Fisher, MD, PhD, Associate Professor of Structural and Chemical Biology, Mount Sinani School of Medicine. Sponsored by Bill Marzluff, held in G100 Bondurant Hall at 12pm. For more information: <http://gmb.unc.edu/seminars/fridayseries.html>

Fine-mapping octanoic acid tolerance in Drosophila sechellia and reproductive isolation in D. melanogaster

Presented by Eric Hungate. Sponsored by Biology Lunch Bunch. Held in Coker 215 at 12pm.

The Association Between Body Mass Index and Head and Neck Cancer by Race. Presented by Dr. Jessica Jensen UNC Chapel Hill. Held in 2101G McGavran Greenberg at 1pm.

October 4th

Effects of Nuclear Receptor Activation on Thyroxine Metabolism in Rat and Human Hepatocytes

Presented by Vicki M. Richardson. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Building at 4pm.

October 5th

"Regulation of G protein signaling by ubiquitination"

Presented by Henrik Dohlman, UNC-Chapel Hill. Part of the Biochemistry & Biophysics Seminar Series. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics from 11am-12pm. For more information: <http://www.med.unc.edu/biochem/events/2010-fall-seminars/dohlman>

Reprogramming Epigenetic Silencing with Artificial Transcription Factors (ATFs) Presented by Pilar Blancafort, PhD, UNC Chapel Hill. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics at 4pm.

Fossil rainforests of Patagonia: Ancient biodiversity and living legacy

Part of 2010-2011 Biology Department seminars. Presented by Peter Wilf, Penn State. Held in Coker 201 at 4pm.

October 6th

Chemical Inhibition of Human Bromodomains

Presented by James E. Bradner, MD, Dana-Farber Cancer Institute/Harvard. Held in 00-002 Joseph S. Pagano Conference Room, UNC Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center at 4pm.

Increasing QSAR Model Predictivity for Practical Applications Of Virtual Screening

Presented by Guiyu Zhao, UNC-CH, School of Pharmacy. Held in Kerr Hall 2001 at 3pm.

"Rational Design of Lipid-based Nanoparticles for Systemic siRNA Delivery"

The Division of Molecular Pharmaceutics will present a seminar by graduate student Yang Liu. Held in Beard Hall, room 116 at 4:00 p.m.

October 7th

"A Guide to the Promises and Perils of Entrepreneurial Passion" Held in Sitterson Hall, Room 014 from 5:30pm-6:30pm. Networking Session will be held at Top of the Hill Restaurant & Brewery, Tank Room—2nd floor from 6:30pm-8:30pm

October 2010 Seminars (page 2 of 5)

Optogenetic Dissection of Neural Circuits That Underlie Motivated Behaviors

Presented by Garret Stuber, PhD Assistant Professor of Psychiatry UNC. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics BLDG at 12:30pm.

October 8th

Documenting the endocrine correlates of avian reproductive effort

Sponsored by Biology Lunch Bunch. Presented by Rob Aldredge. Held in Coker 215 at 12pm.

Denis Wagner, PhD Harvard Medical School

Presented by Dr. Denisa Wagner/ Part of the thrombosis & Hemostasis lecture series. Held in Pagoano conference room/LCCC from 11am-12pm. For more information: <http://www.med.unc.edu/www/events/denis-wagner-phd-harvard-medical-school>

“The Complex Life of Small RNA”

Presented by Eric Miska, PhD Professor, Department of Biochemistry Wellcome Trust/Cancer Research UK Gurdon Institute-University of Cambridge. Sponsored by Shawn Ahmed, held in G100 Bondurant Hall at 12pm.

October 11th

“Neuroinflammation and Gene Expression Involved in Synaptic Plasticity and Memory: Pharmacological Approaches to Restore Neuronal-microglia Communication.”

Presented by Susann Rosi, PhD, Assistant Professor, Physical Therapy and Rehabilitation Science, Neurological Surgery, University of California, San Francisco. Part of Bowles Center for Alcohol Studies Seminar. Held in 124 Taylor Hall from 12:30pm -1:30pm.

October 12th

Computational Design of Protein-Protein Interactions”

Presented by Brian Kuhlman, UNC-Chapel Hill. Part of Biochemistry & Biophysics Seminar Series. Sponsored by Leslie Parise, held in G202 MBRB from 11am-12pm. For more information: <http://www.med.unc.edu/biochem/events/2010-fall-seminars/kuhlman>

Functional genomic and proteomic approaches to probe the unique cell biology of Chlamydia infections

Presented by Raphael Valdivia, PhD, Duke University Medical Center. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics at 9:30am.

Genomic medicine: Dealing with insufficient evidence

Presented by Muin J. Khoury, MD, PhD, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Building at 4pm.

Alpha-1-Adrenergic Receptors in the Heart

Presented by Brian C. Jensen, MD, UNC Chapel Hill. Held in 4007 Genetic Medicine at 4pm.

Dynamics of Morphogen signaling in early Drosophila embryos

Part of 2010-2011 Biology Department Seminars. Presented by Greg Reeves, NC State. Held in Coker 201 at 4pm.

Gene-environment interactions

Presented by Nobuyo Maeda, PhD, Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine. Sponsored by EPID CVD Seminar Series. Held in 2301 McGavran-Greenberg from 12:30pm-1:30pm.

October 2010 Seminars (page 3 of 5)

October 13th

Current challenges: molecular marker research in cancer diagnosis and therapy

Presented by David Ransohoff, MD, UNC Chapel Hill. Held in 00-0002 Joseph S. Pagano Conference Room, UNC Lineberger Cancer Center at 4pm.

Interaction Motifs of the Androgen Receptor and its Coregulators

Presented by Elizabeth Wilson, PhD, UNC Chapel Hill. Held in 2001 Kerr Hall at 3pm.

"Genetically Engineered Mouse Models: Uses and Limitations"

The Division of Molecular Pharmaceutics will present a seminar by William Kim, MD,. Kim is an assistant professor of medicine and genetics at the UNC Lineberger Comprehensive Cancer Center. Held in Beard Hall, room 116 at 4pm.

October 14th

35th Annual UNC Lineberger Cancer Center Postdoc-Faculty Research Day

Held in Kenan Center, UNC Chapel Hill at 9am. To register: <http://cancer.med.unc.edu/research/postdocday>

October 15th

"Replication Timing as an Epigenetic Fingerprint of Stem Cell Identity and Chromosome"

Sponsored by Cyrus Vaziri. Presented by David Gilbert, PhD Distinguished Professor of Molecular Biology, Department of Biological Science, Florida State University. Held in G100 Bondurant Hall at 12pm.

Phenotypic plasticity's role in the origins and diversification of feeding strategies in spadefoot toad larvae

Sponsored by Biology Lunch Bunch. Presented by Cris LedUn-Rettig. Held in Coker 215 at 12pm.

October 18th

"Translational Medicine and the Human Microbiome"

Sponsored by Cell & Molecular Physiology; CGIBD. Presented by Rob Knight, PhD, Assistant Professor, Molecular Biophysics at CU Boulder. Held in G202 MBRB from 12pm – 1pm.

Interleukin (IL-1) and IL-6 Regulation of Neural Progenitor Cell Proliferation with Hippocampal Injury in the Adolescent and Mature Mouse Brain

Presented by Christopher A. McPherson. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Building at 4pm.

October 19th

Personalizing Medicine with Targeted and Genomic-Wide Sequencing

Presented by Lilian L. Su, MD, FRCPC, University of Toronto. Held in 00-002 Joseph S. Pagano Conference Room, UNC Lineberger Cancer Center at 4pm.

GPCR Expression and Signal Transduction: Thinking what we thought we knew

Presented by Paul A. Insel, MD, University of California, San Diego. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics at 4pm.

The computational biology of HIV: Past successes and present challenges

Part of 2010-2011 Biology Department seminars. Presented by Allen Rodrigo, Duke University. Held in Coker 201 at 4pm.

October 20th

Investigation of Ligand-Based Drug Discovery Approaches and Validation of the Quality of Data in Various Sources

Presented by Man Luo, UNC-CH, School of Pharmacy. Held in Kerr Hall 2001 at 3pm.

October 2010 Seminars (page 4 of 5)

"Targeted treatment of hormone refractory prostate cancer by docetaxel-lipid conjugate BTM nanoparticles"

The Division of Molecular Pharmaceutics will present a seminar by graduate student Lan Feng. Held in Beard Hall, room 1 at 4pm.

October 21st

Multi-Level Approaches to Reducing Cervical Cancer in Appalachia Ohio

Presented by Electra D. Paskett, PhD, Ohio State University. Held in 00-002 Joseph S. Pagano Conference Room, UNC Lineberger Cancer Center at 3pm.

Neural-glial Interactions in Pain Hypersensitivity

Presented by Miachel Salter, MD, PhD, Professor of Physiology University of Toronto, HHMI International Research Scholar, and Director of the Center for the Study of Pain. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Bldg from 12:30pm – 1:30pm.

October 25th

Brain Structure and Function in an FASD Mouse Model

Presented by Kathy Sulik, PhD., Professor, UNC Department of Cell and Developmental Biology, Director, Fetal Toxicology Division. Part of Bowles Center for Alcohol Studies Seminar lecture series. Held in 124 Taylor Hall from 12:30am-1:30am.

The Role of Bile Acids and Compensatory Hepatic Transport Proteins in Troglitazone-Mediated Hepatotoxicity

Presented by Tracy L. Marion. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Building at 4pm.

Water and Health: Where Science Meets Policy

Held in the William and Ida Friday Center October 25-26, 2010. For more information: www.ie.unc.edu/water2010

October 26th

"Integration of DNA Replication and Trans-Lesion Synthesis via S-phase Checkpoint Signaling"

Presented by Cyrus Vazari, UNC-Chapel Hill. Part of Biochemistry & Biophysics Seminar Series. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics from 11am – 12pm. For more information: <http://www.med.unc.edu/biochem/events/2010-fall-seminars/vaziri>

Structural Insights into Controlling the Pros and Cons of Bacterial Symbiosis

Presented by Matthew Redinbo, PhD, UNC Chapel Hill. Held 1131 Bioinformatics at 9:30am.

Sensorimotor control of swimming weakly electric knifefish: From Newton's laws to neurons

Part of 2010-2011 Biology Department seminars. Presented by Eric Fortune, John Hopkins University. Held in Coker 201 at 4pm.

Title-tba

Presented by Anthony Hackney, PhD, Department of Exercise & Sport Science. Sponsored by EPID CVD Seminar Series. Held in 2301 McGavran-Greenberg from 12:30pm -1:30pm.

October 27th

Management of ITP in 2010: what do guidelines say?

Presented by James George, MD. Part of Thrombosis & Hemostasis lecture series. Sponsored by Nigel Key, MD, held in Physician's Office Bldg (POB) #3101.

October 2010 Seminars (page 5 of 5)

UNC-Eisai Distinguished Lectureship in Drug Delivery seminar

The speaker will be Joseph Balthasar, PhD, a professor at the School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences at the State University of New York at Buffalo. Held in Beard Hall, room 116 from 4:00pm – 5:30pm.

The Role of DNA Shape in the Working of the Human Genome

Presented by Tom Tulus, PhD, Boston University. Held in 2001 Kerr Hall at 3pm.

October 28th

Thrombotic thrombocytopenic purpura: a community perspective

Presented by James George, MD. Held in the Clinic Auditorium from 12pm – 1pm.

Development and Function of a Developing Visual Circuit

Presented by Carlos Aizenman, PhD, Assistant Professor of Neuroscience, Brown. Held in 1131 Bioinformatics Bldg from 12:30pm – 1:30pm.

October 29th

Topic-tba

Sponsored by Biology Lunch Bunch. Presented by Heidi MacLean. Held in Coker 215 at 12pm.

Introduction to UNIX for Biologists

The ability to operate in a command line environment is becoming increasingly valuable in the genomics era. This workshop designed for bench researchers who want to familiarize themselves with UNIX. This workshop will cover some of the UNC wide resources available to researchers. We will cover basic file/folder operations used in a UNIX environment. Talk about moving files between a server and a local computer, and finally talk about some basic bioinformatics tools that can be used on command line. Note: This session is meant for novice users who have no prior experience of the UNIX environment. 22 seats available. Held in HSL-307 from 2pm - 4pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

Rat Handling and Techniques

The IACUC Rat Handling and Techniques class is a hands-on wet lab designed to teach students basic techniques in rat handling. Techniques taught include restraint, simple injections, bleeding techniques, anesthesia, and euthanasia. This course is mandatory for all Laboratory Animal Coordinators in laboratories working with live rats. All UNC rat handlers are welcome to attend. Alternatively, training and certification may be provided through a certified proficient Laboratory Animal Coordinator.

Prerequisites (Required in Advance): Research Profile, Lab Worker Form, Animal Handler Form, and IACUC/DLAM on-line orientation (http://cfx3.research.unc.edu/iacuc_reg/). Sponsored by the Office of Animal Care and Use. Held in Glaxo 148 from 10am-12pm. To register: http://cfx.research.unc.edu/res_classreg/reg_person.cfm?event_id=22576&new=1

Basic EndNote

This Basic EndNote class will touch on the fundamental functions of the EndNote software. Building your library, managing your sources, and inserting your citations into your documents will be the focus of what we will cover. This class is structured for new to beginning users. Class Full, you will be placed on the waitlist. Held in HSL – 329 from 2pm – 3pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

Microscopy Techniques in Neuroscience

Presentation given by Vladimir Ghukasyan, PhD, Director of the Confocal and Multiphoton Imaging Facility within the Neuroscience Research Center. Sponsored by NC TraCS. Held in 219 Brinkhous-Bullitt Building from 10:30am-12:30pm. To register: http://cfx.research.unc.edu/res_classreg/reg_person.cfm?event_id=22651&new=1

In-Vivo Functional Brain Imaging and Analysis

Presentation given by Aysenil Belger, PhD, Director of the Developmental Neuroimaging Laboratory within the Neurodevelopmental Disorders Research Center (NDRC). Sponsored by NC TraCS. Held in 219 Brinkhous-Bullitt Building from 1pm-3pm. To register: http://cfx.research.unc.edu/res_classreg/reg_person.cfm?event_id=22652&new=1

RefWorks

In this RefWorks class, participants will learn how to create an account, collaborate and share references with a group account, navigate the RefWorks interface, create citations in RefWorks, and organize references. Participants will also learn how to create bibliographies and in-line citations in documents using Write-N-Cite. 27 seats available. Held in HSL – 307 from 11am – 12pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

October 7th

Teaching Portfolios

Teaching portfolios are becoming increasingly important for marketing one's teaching credentials for new positions and for promotion and tenure in many schools. In this workshop, participants will learn the basic format of a teaching portfolio and develop ideas for their own portfolios whether they are beginning a job search or are under consideration for tenure or promotion in a current position. Held in Wilson Library, Room 318 (CFE Conference Room) from 12:30pm-1:30pm. To register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-e3037c98622f46d88147a2f51bb2ecba

Designing Research Assignments

Many of us want to design assignments that will teach students how to research a topic and write a paper. This workshop will introduce you to some of the ways to ensure these assignments are effective and to make sure they are really teaching your students how to use library and other Internet resources effectively. These tips and techniques will be most relevant for classes taught in the humanities, but everyone is welcome to come. Facilitated by Suchi Mohanty and Jason Tomberlin from the University Library. Held in 318 Wilson Library, CFE Conference Room from 1pm-2pm. For more information and to register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-3acf88c7d5984a78a175d4cc148fa6c2

Advanced EndNote

This class is designed as a hands-on workshop for users with some EndNote experience. We will review how to import references most efficiently, using the "Cite While You Write" feature, and some more advanced features such as finding full-text and editing output styles. Please bring your questions. 8 seats available. Held in HSL - 329 from 10am - 11am. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

Grant Writing (Greensboro)

The NC TraCS Community Engagement Core, Wake AHEC, Greensboro AHEC, NC TraCS Dissemination Core and Carolina Community Network (CCN) proudly co-sponsor a series of FREE workshops on research topics. The next workshop in the series is Grant Writing. Back by popular demand, Grant Writing will introduce participants to the standard elements of competitive grant application preparation. The Workshop has been expanded to allow participants more time to learn the basics of grant writing. At the conclusion of this two (2) day workshop, participants will be able to:

- Describe each structural element of a typical grant proposal
- Evaluate the merit of sample proposals
- Execute a logical, systematic process for capturing proposal ideas on paper
- Understand principles and strategies for writing quality proposals
- Locate public, private and corporate funding sources
- Interpret grant application instructions

Please note: Because space is limited, please do not register for this Workshop if you are not able to attend BOTH days.

Grant Writing Workshop dates and locations:

Personal Branding and LinkedIn. Personal branding and social media have provided new avenues for making your information available to networks and prospective employers. This session will focus on how to develop a professional online presence, and more specifically will focus on ways you can leverage the linkedin.com website to not only add to your online presence but also make important connections and gain valuable information about companies. Sponsored by University Career Services. Held in 239B Hanes Hall from 3pm-4pm.

Ensembl and UCSC Two Browsers The Ensembl and UCSC browsers are two of the most widely used access points researchers use to view and analyze genomic data. Both are comprehensive and integrated sources of annotation for vertebrate and other, primarily metazoan, genomes. Both provide a web-based resource for storing, analysis, display, and downloading of genomic sequence, annotation and pre-compiled comparative data. The emphasis of this workshop will be the navigation of the sites and an overview of the tools in each, including the display of track information, downloading of individual sequences and graphics, and the BLAST/BLAT functions. More advanced functions of each browser will be covered in two subsequent workshops. 19 seats available. Held in HSL - 307 from 2pm - 4pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

What to Expect When You're Expecting @ UNC

A monthly orientation & information session for expectant undergraduate students, graduate and professional students, and postdoctoral scholars. Partners welcome! Topics covered include: parental leave policies, academic and career concerns, where to find support on campus, and more. REGISTRATION REQUIRED: contact Ashley Fogle. Held in The Carolina Women's Center, 215 . Cameron Avenue from 12pm-2pm.

How Students Learn

Abundant research demonstrates that learning takes place when the student's mind actively engages the presented material. Within the discipline of human memory, learning, and cognition exists a vast body of literature dealing specifically with this issue. Participants will leave this workshop with an understanding of the basic concepts in human learning, how to present information so that students most effectively encode it into long-term memory, and how to help students know when they know. Held in 318 Wilson Library, CFE Conference Room from 1:00pm-3:30pm. To register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-6b97aab44db942be80ee69a6f40f19f1

Advanced UCSC Browser Functions (Online)

This workshop will primarily cover the use of the Custom Tracks and Table Browser functions. Custom Tracks allows importation of large data sets. The Table Browser allows complex query building and downloads based on the annotations of the genomes within the UCSC Browser. Other Utilities within the UCSC Browser such as Saving Sessions, liftOver and Genome Graph that are useful for displaying, generating and managing large data sets will also be covered. A brief introduction to exporting UCSC data to the Galaxy toolkit will be included if time allows. It is assumed the attendee is experienced with the basic functions of the UCSC Browser. 17 seats available Online from 2pm - 4pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

Introduction to Survey Weighting

This course is an introduction to the basic concepts for weighting. It begins by defining the goals of weighting including weighting as a correction for differential selection probabilities, non-response and non-coverage. The course covers the process of developing weights for stratified two-stage sampling including computing design weights and methods for nonresponse adjustments and frame coverage error adjustments. Additional topics may include the effect of weighting on variance of the estimates and extreme weights. CPSM students: $0 UNC Chapel Hill students: $15 Other (faculty, staff, postdocs, etc.): $25 This course will count as 4.0 CPSM short course credit hours. If you have any questions, please e-mail Michelle Temple: cpsm@unc.edu. Sponsored by H.W. Odum Institute. Held in 14 Manning Hall from 9am-1pm. BioMart

The focus of this workshop will be on using the BioMart query function within the Ensembl Genome Browser. Using the BioMart graphical user interface enables complex query filtering and simplifies data retrieval, especially of larger data sets. BioMart also makes it possible to cross-query multiple data sets. We will focus on the specific abilities of Ensembl to download large sequence and SNP data sets with a variety of hands-on examples. Those attending will need only minimal experience with Ensembl. BioMart is implemented within a variety of other Genome Browsers and familiarity with the Ensembl implementation will have application to any of these sites. 21 seats available. Held in HSL - 307 from 2pm - 4pm. To register: <http://www.hsl.unc.edu/Services/Classes/classregistration.cfm>

Bayesian Statistics

This is a three-day course: October 25, 27, and 28 (2-5 p.m.)

This short course will be divided into 3 parts. The first part will discuss introductory principles in Bayesian inference, including the Bayesian paradigm, prior elicitation and computational methods. Also, Bayesian methods for linear models and generalized linear models will be discussed in detail. The second part will examine Bayesian methods for longitudinal data and survival models, and the third part will examine some special topics such as Bayesian model assessment and missing data. Several applications and case studies will be presented throughout the short course and SAS code as well as WinBUGS code will be provided throughout the course. Sponsored by H.W. Odum Institute. Held in 14 Manning Hall from 2pm-4pm. To register: http://cfx.research.unc.edu/res_classreg/reg_person.cfm?event_id=22680&new=1

Student Learning Outcomes: The Basis for Instruction

How do we expect students to be different as a result of taking our courses? How confident are we that our goals, classroom activities, and assignments are closely aligned? Participants will learn how to use learning outcomes as a framework for providing instruction and monitoring the effectiveness of their teaching. Held in 318 Wilson Library, CFE Conference Room from 12:30pm-1:30pm. For more information and to register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-568a5937e97c47cabb63a2b94f1d373b

Creating a Dynamic Syllabus

A syllabus is the foundation of a course. A dynamic syllabus provides the structure for learning and serves as a learning tool itself. In this interactive workshop, participants will identify the multiple purposes of a syllabus; examine the design of a student-centered syllabus; and review the processes of reflection, analysis, and selection that result in a common plan and reference for a course. Held in Wilson Library, Room 318 (CFE Conference Room) from 12pm-1pm. For more information and to register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-7f2e4d0871b944d0a77a405bbc97cc13

Lesson Planning

The process of lesson planning involves more than simply deciding what material to cover in class. In this workshop, we will discuss key elements of designing a lesson plan that will engage and involve your students. Participants are invited to bring a previous, current, or future lesson plan for discussion and analysis. Held in Wilson Library, Room 318 (CFE Conference Room) from 12:30pm-1:30pm. For more information and to register: http://www.abcsignup.com/reg/event_page.aspx?ek=0052-0006-c5cc216f95614458b90dfa98120d61cd.

Laboratory Animal Coordinator Lecture

The Laboratory Animal Coordinator (LAC) Lecture orients newly appointed Coordinators to the duties and responsibilities of being a LAC. This lecture is mandatory for all newly appointed LAC's and all Principal Investigators are encouraged to attend. Class size is extremely limited, so newly appointed LAC's or PI's are given preferential seating. Please speak with a member of the Office of Animal Care and Use (966-5569) should the class be full, yet you require preferential seating. Sponsored by the Office of Animal Care and Use. Contraptions - New Permanent Exhibit

Get creative, and build something that does something! This new exhibit challenges you to use common materials -- such as pulleys, ropes, pipes, balls and clamps -- to build a contraption that includes multiple components triggered by a chain reaction of events. For instance, moving a lever to push a ball off a table offers direct experience with principles like gravity or friction in a way that brings alive the process of scientific exploration and experimentation with variables. Third Annual Hillsborough Handmade Parade—2:30pm
Organized by the Hillsborough Arts Council, The Annual Hillsborough Handmade Parade is a walking theatrical performance, an exciting spectacle of art, creativity, and public theatre. With a goal of creating a parade that dances and moves; this years parade theme is: 'Eno River Rhythms...' The theme will awaken curiosity and raise awareness of how we're connected to our river and our fellow creatures. With its headwaters in Orange County, the Eno River is an important part of our community. We hope to not only foster awareness of our natural resources but to celebrate them!
The Handmade Parade is a walking theatrical performance...a spectacle of art, creativity, and public theatre. The parade starts at 2:30 pm. The parade will start at the corner of East Margaret Lane and South Churton Street. The parade will continue up Churton Street to the Historic Burwell School at the corner of West Union St. and Churton Street. There will be music, and a grand finale! on the lawn of the Burwell School, 319 N. Churton St, Hillsborough, NC. Food and beverages will also be available. Anyone can participate! The Hillsborough Handmade Parade is a community participation celebration. Downtown Hillsborough - Churton Street - Hillsborough (919) 643-2500 - <http://www.hillsboroughartscouncil.org/> Free

A Celebration of 50 Years of Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird—5:00pm-9:30pm

Sponsored by the UNC Center for the Study of the American South, UNC School of Law and the Chapel Hill-Orange County Visitors Bureau

5 PM - A screening of the film at the Varsity Theater, 123 E. Franklin St.

7:45 PM - In the theater, discussion of the film with Minrose Gwin, Lee Smith, Karla Holloway, and others.

8:30 PM - Hospitality at Love House & Hutchins Forum, 410 E Franklin: More discussion, accompanied by period desserts and music.

As Harper Lee's beloved novel, To Kill a Mockingbird, reaches its 50-year mark, Chapel Hill and the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill are coming together to offer a celebratory screening and discussion open to the campus community and the general public. The experience of watching the film together on the big screen at the Varsity Theater will be enriched by a discussion in the theater afterward led by writers, scholars, and lawyers, all of whom have deep affection for the story. From the theater proceed up East Franklin St. to the historic Love House and Hutchins Forum, home of the Center for the Study of the American South, where there will be more discussion while enjoying homemade cakes other treats from the period of the novel and listening to period music drawn from UNC's Southern Folklife Collection. The Bull's Head will be on hand selling copies of To Kill a Mockingbird, books by the panelists, and other related books. After 50 years, To Kill a Mockingbird remains a deeply moving depiction of life in a small southern town. The story is specific to a historical moment, yet its themes remain central to our own world. We invite you to revisit the movie with us and enjoy its gifts anew, in the company of your classmates, colleagues, neighbors, and friends. Opera Carolina: The Billy Goats Gruff

Arts in the Garden presents Opera Express, Opera Carolina's educational touring company, with an operatic version of the classic tale, incorporating scenes from operas by Mozart, Donizetti and Rossini. The show uses the goats' plight with the mean troll to explore how to contend with bullies. Opera Express engages children and families throughout the Carolinas with professional performances of opera for young people. These delightful productions help students understand and appreciate opera as an art form that integrates all of the fine arts and humanities. Performances are tailored to children in kindergarten through fifth grade. The show will be inside the Doris Duke Center. 420 Anderson St, Duke University West Campus 426 Anderson St. Durham NC, 27708
