AMOS Internship Descriptions

Global Public Health Internship Program

AMOS Health and Hope is a non-profit organization based in Nicaragua. We are dedicated to improving the health and well being of poor and marginalized rural communities through the strategy of community based primary health care.

AMOS offers a 4 week and 8 week summer internship program in public as well as year long internship in public health. Interns have the opportunity to apply their knowledge, gain international public health work experience, and develop skills in community based participatory research (CBPR) approaches, evaluation and monitoring of projects, maternal and child health interventions, and project development.

Current and past public health projects: Evaluation and monitoring of clean water interventions with CBPR approach; Determining the prevalence of anemia, soil transmitted helminths, and malnutrition in remote rural communities; Evaluation of deworming interventions in rural communities; Photovoice and advocacy in rural communities; Evaluation and monitoring of community based primary health care programs

Interested applicants should send:

• Completed application form (email communications@amos.org)
• Letter of intent which should describe your demonstrated interest or experience with health issues for poor and marginalized populations.
• Resume.
• List of references

Application deadline is May 1st, and applicants will be notified of their acceptance on a first come first serve basis.

For more information, contact:

AMOS Health and Hope
communications@amoshealth.org

Website: www.amoshealthandhope.org
Media Internship

AMOS offers a 6 week summer media internship (photo and video) for people interested in public health reporting, with a commitment to highlighting existing health inequalities for rural populations.

Interested applicants should send:

• Completed application form (email communications@amos.org)
• Letter of intent which should describe your demonstrated interest or experience reporting on health issues for poor and marginalized populations.
• Resume.
• List of references
• Examples of recent work

The application is deadline is May 1st, and interns will be notified of their acceptance on a first come, first serve basis.

For more information, contact:

AMOS Health and Hope
Jessica Chapman, Volunteer Coordinator
Email: communications@amoshealth.org

Website: www.amoshealthandhope.org

(Updated Jan.5, 2012)