The Symposium

The Department of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the Carolinas Healthcare System/Charlotte AHEC jointly present this symposium to provide practicing pathologists with a review of Hematopathology.

The keynote speaker is Dr. Amy Chadburn, MD, from the Weill-Cornell Medical College/New York Presbyterian Hospital, who will present the 15th annual Walter R. Benson Lecture on Immunophenotypically Associated Lymphoproliferative Disorders. Dr. Chadburn is a nationally recognized hematopathologist, with particular interest and expertise in HIV-associated lymphoid neoplasms and post-transplant lymphoproliferative disorders. Dr. Chadburn is currently the Vice Chairman of Clinical Support Services at Weill-Cornell, served on numerous national committees, and is on the editorial boards of The Journal of Histochemistry and Cytochemistry and Archives of Pathology and Laboratory Medicine. Dr. Chadburn is a member of the International Lymphoma Committee of the AIDS Malignancy Consortium, and central pathology lymphoma review committee for the ASCO Clinical Trial Cooperative Group.

All of the speakers will provide lectures designed to update the participants on important developments in the field of hematopathology. Ample time will be provided for discussion and personal interaction between the faculty and attendees.

All attendees are cordially invited to attend the Pig Pickin’ Saturday evening at the UNC Faculty Staff Recreation Association Facility (The Farm) at 1 Alice Ingram Circle, Chapel Hill. This will be an opportunity to meet new colleagues and renew long-standing relationships. If you will join us for the BBQ, please make sure you note that on your registration form.
