

Dear Parent,

- ❖ Encourage your child to write, scribble, and pretend to write.
- ❖ Join your child in writing words or names they are interested in.
- ❖ Don't worry too much about correct or neat writing. Your child is still learning.

About the pencil grip: It's not necessary to use the pencil grip, but it makes writing more comfortable for some children. If your child uses it, the arrow on the grip should point down when you put it on the pencil. Right-handed children should put their thumb on the star. Left-handed children should put their index finger on the star.

Dear Parent,

- ❖ Encourage your child to write, scribble, and pretend to write.
- ❖ Join your child in writing words or names they are interested in.
- ❖ Don't worry too much about correct or neat writing. Your child is still learning.

About the pencil grip: It's not necessary to use the pencil grip, but it makes writing more comfortable for some children. If your child uses it, the arrow on the grip should point down when you put it on the pencil. Right-handed children should put their thumb on the star. Left-handed children should put their index finger on the star.