

SUPER STEWARD AWARDS

Antimicrobial stewardship requires partnership across disciplines and across UNC Medical Center. Super Steward Awards recognize colleagues' meaningful contributions to support the appropriate and effective use of antimicrobials.

Awardees will demonstrate leadership in one or more ways, for example (but not limited to):

- Communication and Engagement
- Innovation / Quality Improvement
- Infection Prevention
- Diagnostic Stewardship
- Research

Nomination is easy: Complete a short form at www.med.unc.edu/casp/ to share the name of the individual to be nominated, their role, service line or department, and a brief rationale for the nomination by April 1, 2022. Nominees must be employees of UNC Medical Center and not paid employees of CASP. Awardees will be announced in June.
