

Jeff Reznik, MD
Atlanta, GA

The Adult Disability Medical Healthcare (ADMH)

Individuals living with developmental disabilities experience significant health and healthcare disparities. ADMH was founded to address these disparities and provide a comprehensive interdisciplinary team approach to addressing healthcare and social service needs in this patient population.

ADMH

- Non-profit established in the setting of our primary care practice – funded solely with grants and fundraising efforts.
- Founded in 2014 – our clinic initially saw patients with Down syndrome and have now expanded to all disabilities – most common DS, autism, cerebral palsy.
- Patients are seen in the context of a PCMH – we partner with a social worker, behavioral specialist and dietician to provide comprehensive care.
- Two-fold role – we act as primary care providers for patients and for some as consultants.

ADMH

- Appointments are 2-2.5 hours and provide as many services on site as possible.
- Our niche is transition and transition planning. Individuals with disabilities have many transitions throughout life. We focus on pediatric to adult transitions.
- We carry forward medical plans to adult world but also engage with patients and families about emergency plans, long term planning and guardianship.

Come check us out at www.theadmh.org