GENERAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

1. Interns have arrived: Orientation started today! PGY3s- remember to sign out your clinic patients to incoming interns and rising PGY2s and 3s. Look on AMION and reach out to patients
2. Join us for Intern Orientation Picnic: 6/23 from 5:45 pm until dark. Hosted by the Falks: 815 Greenwood Rd, Chapel Hill. See attached flyer.
3. Medicine and Surgery Admissions flow process has been finalized: see attached document for details.

Clinic Corner:

Same Day Clinic is moving! Starting 7/1, SDC will move across the second floor of the ACC to the Nephrology space. We will have between 6-7 rooms for patients.

PORS: Patient Outcome Reporting System is relevant for system related inefficiencies and errors in clinic as well. Please submit any concerns as this prioritizes health system resource allocation.

Congratulations to Kristine and Paige on their wedding this past weekend!

Drs. Bynum and Shaheen cuttin' a rug.

Dr. Bob Rayson accompanies the bro squad on a late night frap run.

Please send photos for next week!

*SHOUT OUTS***

To Carlos Rubiano and Rachel Park for helping out in SDC when short staffed this last week, demonstrating the UNC Way.

Please let us know if you see anything that warrants a shout-out for next week!

BIRTHDAYS

No birthdays this week, though still plenty of cause for celebration.

Spotlight on:

Alex Despotes, MD

Alex was born and raised in Raleigh, NC. She attended Notre Dame for her undergraduate studies in Biology and Spanish, and has been a die hard Notre Dame football fan ever since! She returned home for med school at UNC, where she was involved in the medical Spanish language program, the student run free clinic, and the annual service and research trip to Central Mexico. She was inducted into the Gold Humanism Society and graduated medical school with the distinction of honors. She is so excited to be staying at UNC for the combined Internal Medicine and Pediatrics program. Alex loves to read (her med school friends started a book club together), explore the running trails in Chapel Hill, and generally make a mess dabbling in new arts and crafts projects.
