

Richard M. Davis, MD

Specialties

Vision Correction; Comprehensive Ophthalmology
Cornea and External Diseases
Cataract
Dry Eye Disease
Health Services and Dissemination Research

Education

MD: Northwestern Medical School
Chicago, Illinois

Residency: University of Chicago
Chicago, Illinois

Fellowship: Dean A. McGee Eye Institute
University of Oklahoma

To schedule an appointment, please call

984-974-2020

Richard M. Davis, MD

Dr. Davis received his BA degree in Zoology from Indiana University and attended medical school at the Feinberg School of Medicine at Northwestern University.

During his residency program at the University of Chicago, Dr. Davis became interested in research in the cornea, which led to his fellowship in cornea, external diseases, and refractive surgery.

He has served in the Departments of Ophthalmology at the University of South Carolina, and Wake Forest University.

Most recently, he was Chair of Ophthalmology at the University of South Carolina and Director of the Laser Vision Correction Center.

Dr. Davis has National Institutes of Health (NIH) funding in community research in the area of diabetes education.

Personal Notes

- Authored over 100 scholarly presentations, manuscripts and book chapters
- Honor Award, American Academy of Ophthalmology
- NIH-funded in community translational research
- First Annual Ramage Award in Humanitarian Education, South Carolina AHEC
- Member, North Carolina Lions Club