

Lab meetings are currently held online (<https://uncpharmacy.zoom.us/j/91041300504>) on every Wednesday from 2:30 to 4:30 PM.

- You can either present on significant published research in the style of a journal club or describe your on-going research with an emphasis on recent results and next steps designed to elicit helpful feedback.
- If presenting on published work, please provide references to the group by the Friday before the meeting.
- If presenting your on-going research, please assume that your audience understands the basics of your work so that introductory material remains minimal and most of the time is used to discuss on-going research, including: experimental designs, analyses and interpretations of data, and future directions.
